000 is trying to raise pigs for a profit.

262 443 One slaughtered pig is returned daily to Erhlei for local consumption. Both stores in Erhlei but neither of the stores in Sanlei sell pork although Sanlei stores do sell dried fish and canned fish or canned meat. Ignoring the few people who bring meat home from the city, one pig is sufficient daily for about 150 families. The daily consumption for a family of six (average) would rarely exceed one or one and a half chin (less than two pounds) except on special occasions.

Wood

245 313 Wood is another agricultural profit-making product that grossly falls under the rubric of agriculture because the trees are cultivated rather than natural. Tree seedlings are transplanted in December or January and then cultivated each August and weeded each January during the first five years. They than require little subsequent care. They are cut when about one or two inches in diamster for firewood for cooking. Some wood is used right after cutting although most is left to dry out first. 314 About thirty per cent is converted into charcoal by specialists in another village just down the road on the way 313 to Hsin Tien. There are two lumber yards there which 443 regularly buy wood at a standard set price if it is transported to the door. The piles in the two yards can be seen from the bus window so that everyone knows when they
